Hold Your War Bonds
—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The Government is shortly going to urge that war bonds be held and not cashed. This will be good advice if followed nation-wide.

T. R. Gamble, director of the Treasury's War Finance Division, says the threat of inflation is more "aggravated than at any period during the war." Dr. William A. Paton, professor of accounting at the University of Michigan, says the nation can avoid ruinous inflation only if ten millions of war bond owners continue to hold them indefinitely.

England and France carried huge debts, going back to Napoleon and Waterloo, without disaster until World War I, because their bonds either had no redemption date (consols) or the people themselves continued to hold them as a nest egg, or as a dowry for a marriageable daughter, or as an inheritance passing down from father to son. They were content to collect the interest, and when bonds did mature, they exchanged them for the new issue.

So far, Americans have held on to 85% of the war bonds they bought to finance the war now ending.

Safe With Money Located After Reported Robbery

A reported robbery to the Bristol police was easily solved on Monday, and the solution was made to the chief of police, Linford J. Jones, upon his arrival at the premises in Bristol.

The police received a telephone call from a woman who spoke as if she was greatly excited. She informed the police that a safe containing $10,000 had been taken from her house. Chief Jones declined to give the name of the woman or the address of the house.

The chief went immediately to the property and as he stepped on the porch was informed by the family that the safe had been found. It had been rolled from a closet to another part of the room in back of a bureau. Chief Jones ascertained that the money was in the safe intact and he immediately took the family to a local bank where it was deposited.

Broschard's Co. Kills 135 "Japs" in the Wilds

WITH THE 38TH DIVISION ON LUZON, Aug. 29.—Spending 19 days in the wild and rough Sierra Madre mountains, a rifle company of the 151st Infantry, 38th Division, which included PFC Donald M. Broschard, of Bristol, Pa., killed 135 Japs and took six prisoners, while clearing out isolated enemy strong points.

Patrols forded streams and waded through almost knee-deep mud while searching out the widely scattered Jap positions.

Most of the "Nips" were in small groups of 10 to 20 in dense bamboo thickets, and along the steep winding trails 2500 feet up the rocky heights of the mountain.

Pfc. Broschard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Broschard, Schumacher Drive, Bristol.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID TO JOHN TETTEMER

Morrisville Warrant Officer
Praised In Bronze Star
Citation

IN ARMY FOUR YEARS

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 29.—Presented with the Bronze Star medal, Warrant Officer (Jg) John Burton Tettemer, N. Pennsylvania avenue, is cited for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy while serving in the European Theatre of Operations.

Tettemer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Tettemer. The citation reads:

"Warrant Officer Tettemer has toiled conscientiously in behalf of the men of the 10th Armored Infantry Battalion since its commitment to action on July 18, 1944. When Warrant Officer Murray J. Kern, personnel officer, was injured on September 13, 1944, Master Sergeant Tettemer stepped into his job and kept the administrative machinery of this battalion functioning smoothly. During the period September 13, 1944, to May 8, 1945, which was a period of rapid turnover, both in personnel and records, Tettemer has had complete supervision of service records, the payroll, money orders and the personal transfer of funds. Throughout this period, punctuated by a volume of paper-work such as this battalion has never before known, mistakes were held to a minimum.

"The qualities of leadership displayed by Tettemer were such that the men under him were happy to strive for speed and accuracy, though working conditions were far from ideal. Tribute to Warrant Officer Tettemer's administrative ability is reflected in the fact that the men of this battalion have maintained excellent morale throughout our campaign—a state

Best of Care Ready for 5000 Sick Allied Prisoners

With Admiral Halsey's Fleet, Tokyo Bay—American naval forces were prepared today to give immediate medical care to an estimated 5000 sick Allied prisoners held by the Japanese.

The first authoritative report of the condition of the 34,000 prisoners still in the Jap homeland was given by Dr. Marcel Junod, Swiss representative of the International Red Cross.

Dr. Junod informed Rear Admiral Oscar C. Badger, commanding the U. S. landing forces, that he believes that one out of seven of the Allied prisoners is in urgent need of medical treatment for various ailments arising from malnutrition.

The Swiss representative recently toured internment camps in Japan and gave Badger a complete report of his findings and a list of 2000 prisoners in the Tokyo area and 6000 in central Honshu.

Several U. S. hospital ships were on hand to aid in the evacuation and treatment of Allied prisoners. About one-third of the group held in the home islands is composed of Americans.

Junod was accompanied aboard Badger's flagship by a score of Jap military representatives and one Nip Red Cross worker.

BUS DRIVERS' STRIKE NOW "MARKING TIME"

Buses Remain In Garage;
Commuters and Others
Hampered, 3 Routes

MEN, "NO COMMENTS"

The strike of Neibauer Bus Co. drivers is "marking time" today, and there are little or no new developments. All buses of the company remained in the garage today, with groups of drivers milling in and out of the garage, and amusing themselves on street corners playing cards.

M. T. Davis, one of the drivers to whom a Courier reporter was referred for a statement, declined to make any comment on the situation, other than to say that a Mr. Elliott and A. H. Keeler, union organizers, would be in Bristol this afternoon at one o'clock. Davis inferred that it was up to them if there was to be any statement made for publication.

Davis was asked if any conferences were scheduled for today between representatives of the Neibauer company and those of the union. He could not give any enlightenment on this point, but did say that word was being awaited from the company.

Those depending upon the Neibauer buses for transportation between Bristol and City Line, Torresdale; Bristol and Morrisville; and Bristol and Newtown, were still greatly handicapped. Plants in the area again today in a number of instances sent station wagons and trucks for employees residing at a distance from their plants.

Affairs scheduled throughout the area last night suffered in attendance due to the inconvenience caused by the bus strike and there was a falling off of attendance at moving picture theatres and other places of amusement.

Efforts to contact by telephone union representatives at the Philadelphia offices of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, Branch 1195, proved fruitless. Numerous calls made to this office yesterday and today brought no response.

The bus drivers refused to take the buses out yesterday and Edward Neibauer stated that the strike was due to his company declining to recognize the union without an election first being held to determine if the majority of the drivers desired the union to represent them.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

Funeral of Vincenzo Cordisco, who died suddenly Sunday while at his employment at Rohm & Haas Co. plant, here, will be held tomorrow at nine a. m., from his late home, 1021 Chestnut street, Solemn Requiem Mass will be said at 10 o'clock in St. Ann's R. C. Church. Burial in St. Mark's Cemetery will be in charge of Vincent D. Galzerano, funeral director.

COUNTY CONSIDERS HOSPITAL HERE FOR ISOLATION CASES

Commissioners Discuss the Possibility of Securing
Wagner Hospital

IS FULLY EQUIPPED

Would Be Used for Infantile
Paralysis and Other
Isolation Cases

The Bucks County Commissioners in session yesterday at Doylestown considered a proposition to bring about the establishment of an isolation hospital for Bucks county, and the possibility of securing the closed but fully equipped Wagner Hospital in Bristol for that purpose.

The matter was brought to a head as a result of the numerous cases of infantile paralysis in Bucks county this year, and the fact that the county has no place to send contagious diseases except to overcrowded Abington Hospital.

The Commissioners conferred with the Bucks county treasurer of the National Infantile Paralysis Fund, J. Purdy Weiss, of Doylestown who assured the Commissioners that it would be a fine thing. The Paralysis Fund in the county has $5,000 for aid for local cases, but not enough to operate a hospital.

That a complete survey should be made of the situation by members of the medical profession in Bucks county and the health authorities, is the opinion of the County Commissioners, and to submit a report at a future meeting of the Commissioners for further consideration.

The ceremonies will be opened by George Thorpe, past commander of Jesse W. Soby Post, No. 148, American Legion, of Langhorne. He will present Burgess Leon R. Comly, who will make a few remarks. ed. Will they continue to keep them?
Despite the danger of nationwide cashing of bonds, Secretary of the Treasury Vinson promises that the Government will not attempt to "freeze" them. You can cash them if you so desire.
But there are still more huge bond issues to be sold. In World War I, the biggest issue was sold after the armistice—not before. The present debt will increase by many billions before the last soldier returns to his native shore.
But if bonds are held, and not cashed, what happens to this "chance-purchasing power" tied up in bonds? How is it to be used to finance a post-war prosperity of $140 billions annually which it is said we "have to have"?
War bond advertising has lacked something of common honesty. We have been told "agony and agony and agony" that the bonds we buy mean future homes, automobiles, trips, as well as security in old age. This could be understood only as meaning the use of the principal of the bonds, for few people can save enough to buy the "dream house" out of interest at less than 3%.

THE OPA'S PART
When President Truman wrote his executive order permitting wages to rise in the reconversion period and at the same time specifying that the price line be held where it is, he imposed on the Office of Price Administration an onerous burden. In large part the responsibility for working this economic miracle falls on that agency.
OPA officials have been saying since last fall that most consumer goods will be sold at or near 1942 prices when they come back on the market. They are still saying so, according to dispatches from Washington. The decision on wages has not changed their opinion, and the abrupt end of the war has encouraged them to believe that their task will be easier than they had expected. They explain that manufacturers will be able to get into volume production quickly and that this will help to keep costs down.

But industry spokesmen point to hard facts that cannot be ignored. Since materials and labor both cost more than they did in 1942, they insist that they cannot produce at a profit on the price levels of three years ago. The OPA seems ready to concede that where production costs are significantly higher manufacturers must get more for their output, but it still hopes to keep the retail price level stable by compelling wholesalers and retailers to absorb the difference.

MAGIC MARKETING
The National Association of Retail Grocers predicts interesting developments in marketing. Cumbersome shopping bags with emanating odors of food contents will be no more. Fresh fruits, vegetables and fish will come ready-packed, frozen, flown via transport to distant points where they will be merchandised in the self-service style.

Western vegetable growers will strip cauliflower of its leaves and peas of their hulls, and seal them in packages on their farms before shipment to stores. Root vegetables, such as carrots, beets, turnips and parsnips will arrive at markets in farm-fresh condition. Consumer-size packages of fresh fruits and vegetables from a half-to-two pounds will be available along with the frozen commodities.

The average seafood item will be frozen and sealed in a window carton—ready for the pot or pan. No offensive odor, no cleaning problem, no special icing job, and fresh seafood will be as readily obtainable in prairie states as on the eastern seacoast.

It is assumed, of course, that many housewives still will want to go shopping for food "in the raw" as contrasted with the ready cooked meals that already have been projected as the highlight of the consumer's unfolding postwar picture. Cooking always will be an art, and so will discriminating marketing.

Unable to obtain rail accommodations, a discharged veteran rode a horse from New York to Saint Louis. The mystery is why he wanted to go to Saint Louis.

If the Government now finds itself embarrassed in asking its bond buyers not to use their principal (not to cash bonds, but hold them), it has only itself to blame.
There has been too much Hollywood in this war. I never thought too highly of the fat man who bought bonds only if some actress, with Morgenthau's blessing, kissed him on the bald spots.
It is said that individuals have "saved" $130 billions. This is largely baloney. If a man and wife have paid off the mortgage on the house, and now have the house debt free, they have saved something that will keep the rain out. But war bonds are not true economic savings. They largely represent expenditure for wealth which has been eaten up, worn out, or destroyed on land and sea. A sunk battleship cannot be turned into a home.
These billions of war bonds represent a charge against wealth to be created in the future. They are not true savings. They are a claim on future taxes which the people themselves will pay.
The sooner we forget the hoop-la, and depend upon today's production for today's consumption, of working for a living—rather than spinning air castles out of war bonds—the better.

Social Security Board

All the girls in the office envied Elsie—her good looks, her likable personality, and the splendid fellow she was going to marry. She had worked in the office since 1935, and everyone was invited to her wedding on April 12, 1945.
In the personnel office, while making arrangements to leave on March 1, she asked: "What about my social security insurance, can I draw that now?" "No," answered the manager with a smile. "Benefits are payable only at your death or when you reach age 65. You have 33 quarters of coverage now. If you should die within the next 84 years, your husband would receive a lump-sum death payment."
"There is a way you can extend this insurance protection. A person is permanently insured with 40 quarters of coverage. You only need seven more quarters to be permanently insured."
"Why don't you let me put your name on our reserve list? Then we could count on you to help us out during vacations or to fill in during sickness. We'd enjoy having you back from time to time."
Elsie stood up smiling and shook hands with the manager. "I'll be glad to come back for short periods like that until I have 40 quarters of coverage. Thank you for telling me about it. It gives me a feeling of security to know I can become permanently insured so I can receive monthly insurance payments when I am 65."

HOW SMART ARE YOU?

Plenty smart, if you are one of the thousands of girls and women who have found blessed relief from "monthly grumps" in Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. Of course, they do not correct organic menstrual conditions that require consultation with your doctor. But they do help to relieve the discomfort of functional pains, cramps, headaches and nervousness that frequently accompany the normal menstrual period. Taken according to directions, preferably two or three days in advance of your time, Chi-Ches-Ters Pills tend to relax the muscular contraction that is often the cause of unnecessary distress. An added iron ingredient helps promote resistance and energy. Before suffering again ask your druggist for Chi-Ches-Ters Pills, and accept no substitute. Caution: Use only as directed.

YOU can help
this army move

An army may move on its stomach, as Napoleon said, but when it comes down the gangplank these days, it moves pretty much by mouth and ear. Its first thought seems to be to talk and listen, by telephone, to the folks at home.

Long distance calls, most of these; and when they come by the boat-load, there just aren't enough operators or lines to put them through as speedily as we'd like to.

Will you help? You'll be giving the returning veterans a big lift if you will. And all you need do is follow these four easy suggestions:

1. Make only necessary long distance calls, regardless of the time of day.
2. Keep all calls brief.
3. When the operator asks you to limit your call to five minutes, remember that she is doing so only because the long distance line you want is crowded.
4. Continue to "save seven to ten for service men," but give them every break right around the clock.

FLEETWINGS LOSE FINAL GAME TO PRISON OFFICERS

Manager Mulholland Plays With a Patched-Up Ball Team

FINAL SCORE 4 TO 2
Schaffe Hurls for the Arrows And Allows Only Five Hits

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 29 — The Fleetwings Arrows lost their final industrial league game last evening on Wetzel field when they were beaten by the Prison Officers, 4-2, in a nicely-played ball game.

Manager Mulholland had a patched-up ball team which did a fine job in holding down the Guards' score. Tommy Dooley played a good game at second, handling nine hard chances without an error.

Jack Schaffe hurred for the Arrows and held the Officers to five hits, three coming in the fourth when the Trenton team scored a trio of runs on hits by Sabo, Schubilla and Funari, the latter having a double. A hit by Myernick and Schaffe's error gave the Guards their fourth run.

Barney Lyczak was responsible for both Fleetwings' tallies. He singled in the second, was sacrificed to second, stole third, and scored on Dooley's fly. In the fourth, Tosti hit safely, was sacrificed to second by Ritter and scored on Lyczak's second hit of the game, a single to right.

BADENHAUSEN WINS OVER DIAMOND; PROTEST THE GAME

Diamond Mgr. Says Batter Interfered With Player Fielding the Ball

GAME ENDS 5 TO 4

Badenhausen Won Game In the 7th When They Loaded the Bags

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 29 — The Badenhausen team nosed out Diamond, 5-4, last evening, on the Bensalem township high school field in a Bristol Suburban League contest. But last night, Manager Joe Diamant, of the Diamond team, informed the league secretary that he was protesting the game.

The victory gave the Badies the second half championship of the circuit. They also won the first half and so unless they lose the protest, no playoffs will be necessary.

The Badenhausen team won the game in the seventh when they loaded the bags. Hemp failed to drive in any run but Hansen laid down a bunt along the first base line and when Sagolla went over to field it, there was a collision with the result that Cobleigh scored the winning marker. This was the cause for the protest.

Freddie Hibbs led the Badenhausen hitters with two out of three, while "Tohy" Oriola had three out of three for Diamond.

Admiral Nimitz Flies From Guam to Tokyo Bay

H-Hour was set for 6 a. m. tomorrow (2 p. m. today PWT) when Gen. Douglas MacArthur will lead several thousand airborne troops into the Tokyo airfield of Atsugi and 10,000 Marines and 3,000 blue-jackets begin landings on three island fortresses in Tokyo Bay and the once great Yokosuka naval base.

As the Supreme Allied Commander prepared to take off for Atsugi, he was assured of the success of the mass Allied airborne movements into the heart of Japan.

MacArthur's crack staff of technicians informed him that the Atsugi runway was capable of handling as many as 200 giant C-54 Sky-master transport planes during one day's operations. This information allayed previous fears that the Jap airstrip might be too weak to stand up under a procession of the big aircraft, thus forcing the Americans to use medium planes and causing a consequent delay in occupation army movements.

Adm. William F. Halsey's flagship, the 45,000-ton Missouri, led a majestic parade of battlewagons, cruisers and destroyers into Tokyo Bay this morning in preparation for the amphibious landings.

Only a few miles inland from Yokosuka, a spearhead army airborne party was at work making final preparations at Atsugi air-drome for the arrival of the Supreme Allied Commander and major units of his occupation army.

Army transport planes were busily shuttling back and forth from Okinawa to Atsugi in the rush of last-minute arrangements.

The airborne and amphibious troops will land in full combat array. The main Yokosuka landings on the shores of Tokyo Bay are scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow (6 p. m. today PWT), four hours after the island fortresses are secured.

At the personal invitation of MacArthur, Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, the liberated hero of Corregidor who was confined in a Jap prison camp for three years and three months, will witness the formal surrender of Japan Sunday aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

After more than three bitter years in Jap prison camps, Wainwright and his aides who surrendered to the victorious Japs on Corregidor in May, 1942, were to taste a victory which well might be dedicated to them.

MacArthur extended a similar invitation to Lt. Gen. Arthur Ernest Percival, British commander who surrendered Singapore to the Japs in the early months of the war.

Both Wainwright and Percival sent their immediate acceptances to MacArthur from Chungking. They will fly from Chungking to Manila today and thence to Tokyo.

In the wake of the Missouri as she passed through Uraga Strait into Tokyo Bay, following a course cleared yesterday by Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger's Task Force 31, were her sister ship, the Iowa, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's flagship, the South Dakota, and the British battlewagons, King George V. and the Duke of York.

Ready to receive many of the 34,000 Allied prisoners of war and civilian internees held in Japan were three white hospital ships. Those not in need of immediate medical care will be evacuated by transports. Others will be flown out by big transport planes.

Scores of special teams will land with the first waves to give tender treatment to those liberated after long imprisonment.

There was absolutely no show of resistance on the part of the Japanese as Halsey made his historic entrance into the sheltered waters of Tokyo Bay and the air-drome forces at Atsugi, 22 miles southwest of the Emperor's palace.

The Japanese officials at Atsugi made a show of co-operation and hospitality but there was some question concerning the smooth evacuation of Allied internees in the Jap home islands.

The Imperial Government complained in a radio message to MacArthur that Allied prisoners held at Osaka and Kobe were out of control and were raiding the countryside for food and other supplies.

The Jap message hinted at the possibility of armed clashes "in case such prisoners come into possession of arms and ammunitions," Mass.

and asked the Supreme Commander to make Allied Nationals in Nippon "obey orders" and "restrain themselves."

Another Jap message to MacArthur protested that Japanese "lives and properties" were "exposed to imminent danger" in Soviet-occupied northern Korea. Jap forces in southern Korea were said to be "eagerly waiting for" MacArthur's occupation forces.

Despite the apparent willingness of the Japanese to accept occupation quietly, Allied naval and air forces were deployed over wide areas guarding against any possible local outbreaks.

"On to Tokyo!" Is Cry of Thousands of Troops

Okinawa—"On to Tokyo!" That was the word flashing through the ranks of thousands of airborne troops tonight as they tensely awaited the order of Gen. MacArthur to occupy the heart of Japan where the Stars and Stripes already fly triumphantly.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz dramatically arrived in Tokyo Bay at 2:14 o'clock this afternoon (10:14 p. m. Tuesday PWT) after a long flight from his Guam headquarters.

The five-starred Admiral was piped aboard his flagship, the South Dakota, which majestically sailed into Japan's innermost harbor this morning with other mighty warships of the Third Fleet.

Nimitz immediately called a conference with his staff officers to make final arrangements for his role as United States representative at the formal surrender of Nippon Sunday aboard the USS Missouri.

All preparations were completed for the H-Hour landings by air, sea and land at 6 a. m. tomorrow (2 p. m. today PWT).

The careful planning of MacArthur left no detail overlooked.

Word was flashed to him from Atsugi air-drome on the outskirts of Tokyo that his crack staff of technicians had everything in order. Communications were set up. Atsugi's big center concrete runway was in good condition, capable of handling as many as 200 giant C-54 Sky-master transport planes during a single day's operation.
